

Friedensau Adventist University is a state recognized University in Germany independently operated by Seventh Day Adventist Church, with the School of Theology and the School of Christian Social Science.

At the School of Theology we offer to earliest possible time a position as

Professor of Practical Theology

The prospective Professor should represent the whole discipline of Practical Theology in B. A. and M. A. courses. He/she should cover the fields of Homiletics, Pastoral Theology, Liturgics, Cybernetics, Church Theory and Religious Education. Teaching assignment in Cybernetics and Church Theory has to be performed partly in English.

We expect a person with clear research interest and the willingness to participate in programs of further education. Beyond that we wish commitment to academic self-administration and to develop courses. We assume commitment to interdisciplinary cooperation.

Employment requirements follow the German law of higher education HSG LSA § 35 paragraph 2 No. 1-4a and paragraph 3, furthermore the applicant has to be member of Seventh Day Adventist Church and has practical experience as a pastor for several years. Remuneration is according to the Financial Rules of Friedensau Adventist University. We expect that all full-time teachers live in Friedensau or nearby.

Please send your application with complete profession evidence, especially lecture evidence, only in digital form, to the Presidents office, attn. Mrs. Michelle Koch, Michelle.Koch@ThH-Friedensau.de, by January 22, 2016.
